

Saving money is not meant for buying cheap goods.

What is money? someone says it is nothing while others say it is the most important thing in their life and without it they can't live any longer. It said: money is not everything, but without it you can't do any thing. In my opinion, it is right. but we should also hold a right attitude to it.

What is money?someone says it is nothing while others say it is the most important thing in their life and without it they can't live any longer. It said:money is not everything ,but without it you can't do any thing. In my opinion, it is right . but we should also hold a right attitude to it. You must heard that story that a rich man want to find happyness, at last he found it in a poor man's life. Sometimes we think that the rich persons are the happiest ones in the world. However, it is not. The more money they have ,the more morose they feel. In fact, without money,we can have an interesting and exciting life aslo. So having lots money or less money is not the important thing , the important thing is weather we are happy or not,is it that make our life full of wonderful thing.

Today, most people can solve the problem of eating and clothing, but there's a big difference in the shopping, some people like to buy a lot of things, but is a bargain. Some people like to buy expensive things, is often inconsistent with his income. In fact this two kinds of consumer psychology is wrong, we should sell good quality goods, not blindly pursue high price. We should not ask the number to buy things, to the quality requirements, quality good time before long.
